❓ COMMON QUESTION

When everyone is pouring money into equity SIPs at record levels, share markets are guaranteed to keep climbing.

✅ SOURCE-BACKED ANSWER

Inflow data only measures cash entering funds. It does not guarantee corporate profit growth or shield against market downturns.

Where Does Your Monthly Deposit Go?

1

Liquidity Versus True Value

High inflows mean heavy retail liquidity—meaning lots of money is chasing shares. But liquidity alone does not make a company stronger or cheaper. When market sentiment shifts, high inflows do not prevent portfolio values from falling temporarily.

What First-Time Investors Should Do

Do not rush to increase your monthly deductions simply because national inflow records are breaking headlines. Base your monthly SIP amount strictly on what your household budget can comfortably save without borrowing or stopping early.

Base your investment choices on your personal savings timeline, never on national deposit records.
