

Can banks raise FD interest rates

The October Rate Shift

stat_data 25bps Repo Rate Increase Moved from 5.25% to 5.5% in the October 2026 MPC meeting

Why Did The Rate Change?

card_text Retail inflation has been rising steadily, indicating that further policy hikes may become necessary to keep price pressures under control.

Will Your Existing Deposits Earn More?

comparison_data Existing fixed deposits get an automatic rate hike immediately Existing term deposits usually keep their booked rate until maturity; higher rates typically apply only to new bookings or renewals

Pressure From Other Savings Options

card_text Banks face intense competition for your money from small savings schemes and government securities, forcing them to consider offering better fixed deposit yields soon.

Who Decides The Timing?

card_text There is no universal rule. The exact timing and magnitude of any fixed deposit interest rate hike remain at the discretion of individual banks.

Practical Check

For Savers

checklist_data Check official bank apps or websites Look for revised circulars on new tenures Assume automatic updates on old FDs

Track Before You Lock Your Money

Save for Reference

Bookmark this framework when making this money decision.

Share with a Peer

Send this to a fellow investor when they face this decision.

COMMUNITY DEBATE

Save this post for your next bank review, and share it with a fellow saver.

